

☺ GENERAL RULES FOR DOGS ☺

Dogs are pack animals, which means to be able to live in a balanced “family” they have to have rules. With rules, dogs feel safe, relaxed and mentally and physically balanced.

Here are some tips on how to reach these goals.

- 1) Dogs have to be on the “NO FREE LUNCH” policy!
 - This means they are NOT allowed to get any food/treats for free. They HAVE to obey an obedience cue - sit, down, etc.

- 2) They need a lot of physical and mental exercise.
 - Walk/Jog with them every morning and evening (before feeding them!) for at least 30 minutes.
 - Purchase the Kong for mental exercise - fill it up with treats (cheese, kibble, hot dog, peanut butter, etc.) and let him work hard to get the treats out.
 - Play fetch in the backyard - you can just sit on the porch so you don't have to exercise with him; let him do the work
 - Have a structured walk and reward your dog at the end of it - go to the park where your dog can sniff, potty and play.

- 3) Feeding Rules!
 - Feed your dog; do not leave food down for him! They have to work for their food, ask them to sit before feeding.

Training Tips and Hints

- ◆ Consistency - Consistency is critical when teaching and maintaining behaviors. The dog will only be as consistent as you are!

- ◆ Tone of Voice - The tone of your voice has meaning.
 - Praise using positive, happy tone of voice
 - Cues should be given in a neutral tone
 - Verbal Correction (no reward marker “no”) should be said in a low firm tone of voice

- ◆ Obedience Should Be Fun - The easiest way to get off-leash control of a dog is to make obedience a fun and rewarding experience.
- ◆ Never say a cue if you can't get that behavior.
- ◆ Always offer something the dog finds rewarding for proper behavior.
- ◆ Say a cue only once before expecting and/or helping the dog to comply.
